CENTRAL ODER
LINE SMASHED
BY RED ARMYNAZI STRONGHOLDS
BEFORE BERLIN
OUTFLANKED

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Feb. 15 (P)—The Red army has smashed the Germans' central Oder river defenses with a powerful 30-mile break-through which toppled three of the enemy's largest strongholds southeast of Berlin. Premier-Marshall Stalin announced tonight.

Steadily outflanking the Nazi Fuerstenberg-Frankfurt-Kuestrin line due east of the imperilled Reich capital, Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army captured Sommerfeld, only 67 miles southeast of greater Berlin, Sorau, 13 miles to the southeast, and Gruenberg, 25 miles northeast of Sommerfeld, an order of the day said.

Junction Clogged

Front dispatches said Konev's lower wing also had slashed to within 45 miles of Dresden, capital of Saxony, after reaching the Neisse river in the area of Goerlitz, 74 miles northeast of Prague, Czechoslovak capital.

The fall of the three "important junctions of communications and mighty strongpoints of German defense" southeast of Berlin was aided by a U. S. bomber attack on Cottbus, strategic rail junction only 27 miles west of captured Sommerfeld.

In another striking example of closest liaison between the American airmen and Russian ground forces nearly 500 U. S. bombers hurled some 1,500 tons of explosives on Cottbus, a big 12-way junction clogged with German troops and supply traffic rushed up in an effort to stop the Russian advance.

Americans Hit Dresden

Cottbus controls a maze of arteries leading from Berlin to the Oder, Dresden, and to German troops based in Czechoslovakia.

Dresden also was attacked for the fourth time since the great Allied air assault began Tuesday night. Two hundred American heavyweights brought to 4,000 tons the weight of explosives dropped on that Saxon capital.

The Soviet communiqué said that the Russians had swept up 150 places in German Silesia and Berlin's home province of Brandenburg. These included Naumburg, on the broken Bober river defense line 12 miles east of Sommerfeld, and Schweinitz, five miles southwest of Gruenberg.

In western Poland the Russians had captured most of Poznan, last big Polish city still in German hands, the communiqué said.

CIVILIANS DISBANDED

Ottawa, Feb. 15 (P)—Canada's Civil Defence Committee, for five years ago to serve in case of enemy air attacks on the Dominion or in other emergencies, has been disbanded. It was disclosed tonight. Remoteness of enemy air attack against Canada was given as the reason.

Kelly Clashes With
Mayors On Finances

BY G. MILTON KELLY

Lansing, Feb. 15 (P)—Governor Kelly promised a delegation of Michigan mayors and city managers today that he would help them to fight for legislative action to relieve their cities' financial troubles, but they parted with a clash of viewpoints still very apparent.

They assembled to demand that he announce at once what specific things he plans to espouse in the legislature for their assistance, and Kelly insisted that he could not do this yet, and that they must get together themselves on what specific things they need and will support.

Tomorrow Kelly is to appear before a meeting of mayors from many cities, assembled to ask him about the same questions propounded by the delegation.

Kelly and Mayor Edward J. Jeffries repeatedly shouted at one another in today's discordant meeting, Jeffries accusing Kelly of attempting to thrust his responsibilities on the mayors' shoulders, and Kelly retorting that Jeffries was "not fair."

It was a confused and confusing session, Mayor Ralph W. Crego of Lansing, who led the delegation, told newsmen much of the meeting's value was lost because Kelly and Jeffries kept interrupting each other before either could make a complete exposition of what he was attempting to say. Frequently they spoke in union, and occasionally protested at the interruptions.

The mayor group made it clear it was hungrily eyeing the state's $50,000,000 postwar reserve fund, which Kelly contends is "not a surplus," and a surplus on top of that which Kelly said may run as high as $30,000,000, but which Jeffries contends is greater.

"We estimate you'll have a $43,000,000 surplus," Jeffries said, and Kelly invited him to "send up your figures," which Jeffries said would be done tomorrow.

Kelly reacted angrily to the statement of Mayor Bernard E. Godde of Battle Creek that "the state has money it doesn't know what to do with," declaring the state has legitimate need of its revenues.

CENTRAL TIME
MADE OFFICIALMarch 17 Date To Set
Clocks Back; New Law
Has No "Teeth"

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 15 (P)—At midnight Saturday, March 17, Central Time becomes the "official" time in Michigan, but a survey today indicated little tendency among eastern Michigan cities now on Eastern War Time to turn back their clocks.

The act of the legislature designed to place the state on the "slow" time was signed today by Governor Harry F. Kelly.

It contains no provision for punishment of any person or organization choosing to operate on time standard other than Central War Time. And there were no indications that any "fast time" city planned to heed it.

Gov. Kelly said he had heard nothing of a reported movement among legislators to "blackjack" these cities by passing laws injurious to their interests.

"I can't anticipate any such things," he said, and asked whether he had anything to attempt to force the cities into line, said, "I'm not a prosecutor."

Detroit's council today reiterated its determination to remain on Eastern War Time. Possible confusion from the new law, however, was seen in a statement by Paul T. Dwyer, chief assistant Detroit corporation counsel that while the city would ignore the law, it "would make Central War Time the official time for all courts, banks and commercial institutions in the city. In other words, where a law or a contract calls for the performance of some act at noon, for example, that would mean noon Central War Time."

YANK BOMBERS
BACK RUSSIANSClogged Enemy Railway
Yards Hit 12 Miles
From Soviet Front

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLIN

London, Feb. 15 (P)—More than 1,100 American heavy bombers escorted by 450 fighters, carrying the greatest non-stop air attack of the war into its second day, threw their main weight of destruction today against clogged rail yards at Cottbus, only 12 miles in front of the on sweeping Russian army.

Burning Dresden also was hit again.

Nearly 500 bombers hurled some 1,500 tons of explosives on Cottbus, aiming at a vast rail web in the center of the city, where six main lines converge.

Dresden was attacked for the fourth time since the great air assault began Tuesday night, some 200 more American heavies bringing the total bomb weight unloaded on the Saxon capital to 4,000 tons.

A synthetic oil refinery at Magdeburg, 65 miles southwest of Berlin, was the target for more than 350 bombers making their 12th attack of the war and their second of the week on the plant.

It was estimated that 14,000 Allied planes—more than half of them heavy bombers which had spread some 20,000 tons of explosives on at least 15 industrial and rail centers from Austria to the Ruhr—had taken part in the great 48-hour link up of the eastern and western fronts.

Wiping Out German
Bulge Costs 61,962
Casualties For U. S.

Washington, Feb. 15 (P)—Erasing the German salient in the Ardennes and launching full-scale offensives along the Western front during January cost American ground forces 61,962 men, Secretary of War Stimson reported today.

The month's losses, including 8,848 killed, 41,325 wounded and 11,789 missing, were substantially smaller than those on the same front in December when 74,788 ground troops were lost—principally during the German sweep into Belgium and Luxembourg.

With the "big push" into Germany still in the making, the January fighting boosted total casualties on the front since D-Day to 394,874 or better than half of army losses in all theatres since Pearl Harbor.

Stimson placed the over-all Army figure at 693,342 on the basis of individual names received in Washington through February 7. Counting the Navy's 88,838, this put the nation's war losses at 782,180—a rise of 17,596 since the two services reported last week.

China Conscripts
500,000 Men For
Cleanup Of Japan

Chungking, Feb. 15 (P)—Japan's once-powerful position on the mainland is deteriorating rapidly, the U. S. commander in China declared today as plans were announced for conscripting 500,000 Chinese for all-out offensive in concert with coming American landings on the coast.

"Japan's over-all position is unfavorable," declared Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in the China theater, in one of the most optimistic statements yet made on the war in the East.

"I don't believe the Japanese people realize that, but I am confident the Japanese high command is deeply concerned. They must be."

ALLIES POUR
ACROSS RIVER
TOWARD RUHROPEN PLAINS AHEAD
FOR CANADIANS AND BRITISH

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, Feb. 15 (P)—The Canadian First army in a two-mile gain poured troops and tanks today across the last river before the stronghold of Goch, beyond which lies open rolling country leading to Germany's great munitions producing region.

As Canadians and British welded two crossings of the Niers river into a solid five-mile bridgehead, other forces pressing due east 14 miles inside Germany neared Moyland, less than two miles from the communications center of Calcar and 17 miles from Wesel in the northwest corner of the industrial Ruhr.

Rhine Ferry Captured

On the north flank, Canadians seized control of 20 miles of the Rhine's south bank east of Nijmegen by entering Hurendich and capturing a ferry crossing to the textile town of Emmerich, five miles northeast of Kleve.

At the opposite end of the western front, the U. S. Seventh army lashed out in a new attack south of the Saar basin that gained up to a mile and a half on a five-mile front.

This attack, dealt by the 44th division, ironed out a German salient east of the French city of Sarreguemines in the northern Vosges mountains.

Comparative quiet lay over the remainder of the front, except for the Eifel mountain sector where the U. S. Third army is attacking the westwall south of Pruem. This fallen German citadel was under enemy artillery fire.

Flood Recedes

Best Third army advance of the day was a mile and a half through advance westwall positions 25 miles south of Pruem along the Sure river.

A fall of 16 inches on the flooded Roer, where the U. S. First and Ninth and British Second armies are deployed, indicated that that troublesome barrier on the Cologne plain was returning to normal. The Germans shelled First army positions around the Roer dams southeast of Aachen.

Resistance to Gen. H. D. G. Crear's Canadian First army was lightest on the south flank, where Scottish troops captured Kessel, bridged the Niers river and poured armor across four miles north-west of Goch.

Heaviest fighting on the approaches to Calcar raged in Moyland woods, where the Germans were clinging to a hill from which they could sweep the main highway into the town.

Although the German lines sagged on the northern approaches to the Ruhr and Rhine, where sagging dangerously, a front dispatch said the enemy was not yet trying to dig new defenses.

Loss Of Manila
Upsets Master
Plan Of Japan

BY C. YATES McDANIEL

Manila, Friday, Feb. 16 (P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today that Japan's master plan to make Manila the turning point of the Luzon campaign in Nippon's favor is being smashed by a powerhouse American drive nearing victory in the scarred city and fast overrunning nearby Bataan peninsula.

Today's communiqué, reporting steady reduction of the enemy pocket in south Manila, new gains on Bataan and withering air attacks on Corregidor, also announced seizure of an enemy document.

This document, the general said, made it clear the Japanese had expected to hold Manila with 20,000 troops, street and house fortifications, thousands of mines, elaborate concrete strongpoints and hundreds of heavy guns—all prepared for an attack from the south.

But MacArthur struck from the north and the campaign for Manila is close to American victory, with destruction of the defense system, slaughter of the last ditch defenders and capture of hundreds of cannon.

Of high interest is the swift progress on Bataan, in a push of only a few days down the east coast, Yanks of the 38th division

INTEREST RATE
CUT APPROVEDSmall Loan Bill Passed
By House, Sent To
Senate In Lansing

Lansing, Feb. 15 (P)—The house of representatives passed and sent to the senate today a bill reducing small loan interest rates half of one per cent after a floor battle in which nearly a dozen representatives contended the measure would drive small independent loan companies out of business.

The measure would reduce the monthly interest rates on the first $100 of a loan from three to two-and-a-half per cent and on the remainder from two and a half to two per cent. By law, small loans are limited to a maximum of $300.

In committee of the whole, in which no record vote is kept, 15 members voted to retain the present three per cent maximum but to reduce the secondary charge to two per cent. Sixty-six members rejected that amendment and the bill passed 88 to 4.

The dissenting votes were cast by Reps. Howard R. Estes, Birmingham, Charles H. Block, Wyandotte, George Mathieson, Royal Oak, all Republicans, and Joseph F. Nagel, Detroit, the Democratic floor leader.

Reps. Andrew Bolt, Grand Rapids, Victor A. Knox, Sault Ste. Marie, Joseph E. Warner, Ypsilanti, Nagel, Henry J. P. Graebner, Saginaw, John D. Karel, Grand Rapids, and John W. Thomson, Midland, all argued that the measure would be the death of small firms.

TARGETS

By Elmont Waite

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, Friday, Feb. 16. (P) — The most powerful battleship and aircraft carrier force afloat poured upwards of 1,500 Hellcats, Helldivers and Avenger planes today at Tokyo while warships and army planes shelled and bombed islands to the south.

More flattops than America ever before assembled in a single sea operation are sending raiders in continuous waves against Tokyo's airfields and military defenses, tangling in sky battles with the enemy air force.

The carriers, protected literally by thousands of anti-aircraft guns mounted on bat-

NEWS FRESH

San Francisco, Feb. 15 (P)—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced the mighty U. S. Task Force raid on Tokyo so promptly he even beat Tokyo radio.

The raid by carrier planes started about 7:15 a. m. Friday, Tokyo time. That was 2:15 p. m. today, Thursday, Pacific War Time.

At 4:50 p. m.—just two hours and 50 minutes after the first of perhaps 1,500 planes hit Tokyo—the Associated Press flashed the admiral's startling announcement.

Tokyo radio acknowledged the attack five minutes later.

Ships, cruisers and destroyers, disgorged swarms of bombing, torpedoing and strafing raiders in the first such naval smash of the war at Japan's capital.

New Landings Hinted

The huge and audacious operations, posing a challenge to Nippon's fleet, strongly suggests major developments.

(There was no word from headquarters of the raid's purpose but it easily could be intended to cover new amphibious landing operations within the inner defense ring of Japan's island outposts.)

A navy communiqué today, first disclosing the action, said the planes were raiding "in and around Tokyo" while warships shelled Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands and other enemy bases some 700 miles to the south.

Tokyo confirmed the attack, said it began at 7:15 a. m. Tokyo time, reported two hours later it still was continuing and still later that the planes were fanning out in attacks southeast to air bases on the Boso Peninsula.

"Screaming Hellcats, their heavy multiple machine guns spewing death and destruction in the first American carrier sweep over Tokyo, jarred the Japanese capital shortly after dawn into a day of hysterical terror," reported Al Dopkins, Associated Press war correspondent, in a Guam headquarters dispatch.

Planned Long Time

The Tokyo smash followed by a day a Superfortress blow at Nagoya on the same island. The 21st bomber command said the force of B-29s possibly was the largest ever to strike at Japan.

Signaling the beginning of the carrier assault on Tokyo, the Japanese radios there went silent at 7 a. m. just as the American flag was being raised over headquarters on Guam.

The overall fleet actions—the Tokyo raids, the Bonin and Volcano shelling—were under the direction of Adm. R. A. Spruance.

Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher commanded the huge task force off Japan.

Mitscher, victor over the Japanese fleet off the Marianas in 1944, in the battle of the Philippines Sea, directed an operation which "fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man of the Pacific fleet," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced.

Nimitz, who only recently landed his base of operations to Guam, within 1,500 miles of Tokyo, said the operation "has long been planned."

Doollite Raid Recalled

It was regarded as a blunt challenge to the Japanese fleet, out of action since defeat last October in the battle of Leyte Gulf, to come out and fight.

Tokyo was attacked April 18, 1942 by army bombers of then Lt. Col. (now Lt. Gen.) Jimmy Doolittle flying from the aircraft carrier.

RECOVERY PUSH WINDS UP DAY

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Ralls led the stock market on a swift last-hour recovery push today, after considerable profit ebbing irregularly in the afternoon, and the over-all average hit another high mark for the past seven years.

Individual issues numbering 1,000 appearing. Of these, 399 were up, 206 down and 207 unchanged. Transfers totaled approximately 1,700,000 shares compared with 2,000,000 Wednesday.

Prominent on the climb were Atlantic Coast Line, Illinois Central, Canadian Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Air Reduction, Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co., Pullman, Sperry, American Telephone, Union Carbide and Bethlehem. Declines were posted for Goodrich, Du Pont and General Electric.

DECLINES EVIDENT

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Individual favorites were backed heavily in today's bond market but there was enough profit taking and switching from one group to another to leave a well defined trail of modest declines in the main groups.

Rails, by far the most active department, had both the widest losses and the best gains with enough strength in individual issues to swing the pendulum to the advancing side in the averages.

Among the better performers on the higher side were bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, St. Paul, Rock Island, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, Lehigh Valley, Soo Line, Pittsburgh & West Va. and Texas & Pacific.

Trends were less definite and changes mostly small in obligations of the Missouri Pacific, Katy, Northern Pacific, New Haven, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Seaboard, Central of New Jersey, Cleveland Union Terminal and Detroit Edison. Government bonds were inactive on the stock exchange but held a relatively steady undertone in outside markets.

Bonds of Antioquia, Australia, Brazil, Colombia, Greece, and Uruguay were higher in the foreign department. Sales of $9,630,000 compared with $10,800,000 yesterday.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—Closing foreign exchange rates follow (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents): Canadian dollar in New York open market 91 1/2 per cent discount, or 90 7/8 U. S. cents, bid 12 1/2 per cent. Europe: Great Britain official, buying $4.02, selling $4.04.

Rural Electric Power Aids Food Production

The greater use of electricity as "manpower" on farms is an aid in meeting expanded food production goals in wartime, C. V. Ballard, East Lansing, state county agent leader for Michigan State college, told a banquet meeting of the U. P. Rural Electrification conference at the Sherman hotel last night.

The meeting last night followed a first-day session of a two-day conference designed to educate the farmer to the proper use of electric power. It is the first meeting of its kind to be held in the Upper Peninsula, although previous meetings of this type have been held in East Lansing.

Ballard said last night that electricity aids in the production of food on farms, and because of that is highly important in wartime. Both the people of the cities, and the producers of electric power, have a stake in making farms more efficient, Ballard said.

George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the U. P. Development Bureau, Marquette, also spoke at last night's meeting. He traced the growing electric production and consumption program of the past two decades in the Upper Peninsula. The extension of electric distribution lines to rural areas not only benefits the farmer but increases the value of resort property, he pointed out.

"Cheap power for our farms and rural communities also means that there will be more employment for the boys when they return after the war," Bishop added.

Educational sessions of the meeting of State College and extension personnel, representatives of electric utilities, and farm equipment dealers, are being held in the court house.

Yesterday talks and demonstrations were presented by Ralph Piper of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company; George McIntyre, livestock specialist of Michigan State college; Ed Rambadt of the Presque Isle county cooperative; and Richard L. Witz, Michigan State college agricultural engineer. J. G. Wells, superintendent of the Chatham experimental station, and E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, were chairmen of the meetings.

Today, Miss Helen Noyes, home demonstration agent; Perry Bowser, horticulturist specialist; Emily Parker, home demonstration agent; Wynand Nieuwenkamp, manager of the Alger-Delta cooperative; and Jack Brown, Presque Isle county agent, will present the session programs under the chairmanship of Harvey Kappahan and rier Hornet but today's job was in the first full scale navy operation against the Japanese citadel or homeland.

(Webley Edwards, of the Columbia Broadcasting company, reported from Guam that "at this minute waves of the carrier planes are sweeping over Tokyo."

After recalling the Doolittle raid, Edwards reported: "This one we've been waiting for. This is by many carriers. The warships include battlewagons."

(Edwards said Nimitz is carrying the attack to Japan's "front yard and front steps and into the living rooms.")

Tokyo radio, two hours after originally reporting the attack said: "The air battle is still going on."

COUNTY HIT BY SEVERE STORM

Schools Dismiss Early Yesterday: Forecast More Snowfall

Wet snow yesterday followed by colder weather last night caught Delta county road crews battling to keep roads open, while forecasts for today told of worse storm conditions brewing.

It was reported from the county road commission office yesterday that all except the less traveled "back roads" in the county were open. From the U. P. state highway office in Escanaba came the report that all trunklines were open but icy.

Early yesterday morning came warnings through the state's storm warning system advising

MORE COMING
Lansing, Feb. 15 (AP)—The state highway department today warned motorists that severe storm conditions are developing in the Upper Peninsula, with a heavy snowfall, drifting and low temperatures expected tonight and Friday.

The department said a heavy wet snow started falling in the Upper Peninsula this morning, and the weather bureau at Marquette had predicted heavy snow starting tonight, with an increasing northeast wind and a severe temperature drop.

that rural schools should be dismissed. Some schools were closed before noon, while practically all rural schools closed before the end of the school day, most of them at noon.

In Escanaba city plows were operating all day, despite the traffic, and last night the plowing was speeded up in an effort to clear the streets before the wet snow was frozen. Motorists found it difficult to maneuver out of parking places, and several minor car collisions were reported because of the slippery streets.

Out in the county the road commission crews were nearly finished with driveway plowing when yesterday's storm struck. Further clearance of driveways will have to wait now until main roads are taken care of.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO BUTTER

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Profit ebbing and light hedging found grain futures market indifferently supported today and prices broke sharply. Wheat and oats were off as much as a cent at the finish and rye lost important fractions.

In the cash markets good milling grade wheat continued to sell at ceiling prices. The trade in corn was dull but the market showed more resistance to the sell-off than other grains. At the finish wheat was 1/4 to 1 cent lower than yesterday's close, May $1.61 7/8. Corn was off 1/4 to 1/2, May $1.11 7/8. Oats were down 1/4 to 1/2, May 69 5/8 to 69 1/2. Rye was off 1/2 to 3/4, May $1.12 1/4 to $1.12 3/8. Barley was 3/8 to 5/8 lower, May $1.08 3/4. Commission houses were persistent sellers of rye and prices broke sharply after the early demand was satisfied. Oats were under the pressure of selling by commission houses and pit traders.

Karas Back Home After 35 Months Overseas

Lt. Col. William Karas, back home after 35 months overseas during which he served in North Ireland, England, North Africa, Sicily and Italy, yesterday revealed some of his experiences as area engineer for the Allied Force headquarters in Italy.

"It was our job to build roads and bridges, maintain and construct public utilities, make and repair virtually everything and anything that was needed in our area for the promotion of our war program in Italy," Col. Karas reported.

The Escanaba officer, who entered service with the National Guard unit here in 1940, declared that 1,300 Italian citizens were employed under his direction. The skilled Italian workers are excellent craftsmen and good workers, Karas said, but the common laborers are not particularly hard workers and often proved difficult to handle.

Karas declared that the Italians in general were unsympathetic with Mussolini and the Fascist party that put Italy in the war on the side of Hitler. Their living conditions throughout the war have been relatively bad, Karas said, because of a lack of adequate transportation. The Allied military government has given all assistance possible to improve the living conditions of the Italian people, but military operations still must necessarily command first priority on the available supplies and materials, Karas said.

Col. Karas revealed that his executive officer and his ultimate successor as area engineer at the Allied Force headquarters in Italy was Capt. Tim Nulty, of Lake Linden, a close friend of Karas in college days at Michigan Tech.

The greatest thrill that he received overseas, Col. Karas revealed, was an unexpected meeting with Lt. Keddle Christensen,

Lt. Col. William Karas

U. S. Navy, of Escanaba, in Algiers. The two Escanaba officers spent several happy hours together. Christensen was the only Escanaban that Karas met in North Africa, Sicily or Italy. Karas reported that he had corresponded regularly with Lt. Col. John Fawcett, also stationed in the Mediterranean area, and had made several attempts to meet him but had never been successful.

Col. Karas landed in the United States January 15 and returned to his home in Escanaba, 1022 Eighth avenue south, last Friday, after 35 months overseas. Following a 16-day leave here, he will go to Percy Jones hospital, Battle Creek, for a medical examination.

guests of the police department. They are made to feel that the police department exists for their benefit and that each member of the department is their friend with no desire to interfere with any of their legitimate activities.

The Saturday morning program is a logical extension of the bicycle violators' school originated six years ago to help children understand a new bicycle ordinance. The Milwaukee police believe that their program designed to teach appreciation of law and order will show results when the youngsters of today become good citizens of tomorrow with an understanding of government.

What Peace for Japan?

AN Australian clergyman in this country has urged a "just peace" which would not crush Japan's economic development or reduce her to a third-class power. He argues that, while those who have suffered at the Japs' hands may favor harsh terms, our children in another 25 years will be unwilling to continue such an attitude. He fears a sullen, vengeful Japan and a repetition of "this whole bloody business."

Yet we always bequeath to our children prisons that contain criminal types who are a menace to public safety. Our children may have forgotten their crimes. But they will know that they are sullen and resentful types who would resume a criminal life if released. So they do not hesitate to confine them for the duration of their sentences.

Confining a criminal nation is not so simple as putting a murderer in jail. But the principle is the same. So for safety, not for vengeance, we should preserve for our children the full record of the Japs' and Germans' brutal crimes against world society. And we should remind them, by all possible means, of the dangers which abandonment of watchfulness and control would invite.

THE 'ANGELS OF BATAAN' (Detroit Free Press)

"All are accounted for." These four words in respect to the liberation of the American Army nurses from Santo Tomas prison camp are of special import to the Manila story.

The heroic saga of the "Angels of Bataan and Corregidor" is known the length and breadth of America. Only a few of them could be evacuated when the Japs came three years ago. The rest remained in the rock fastnesses of Corregidor until the surrender. Beyond all question their skill and faithfulness was the difference between life and death to countless of their fellow-captives.

It is also of moment that this happy ending to a long time of imprisonment comes at a time when the Army needs more nurses than have ever before been needed.

The great example of this valiant band of women speaks louder and more eloquently than can any verbal appeal for recruits.

Two hundred letters were ditched behind a billboard by a Los Angeles postman. Those written by wives might just as well have been given to their husbands.

Well, the flags are flying at half-mast over all chamber of commerce offices in Florida this week. California has landed the next United Nations conference. If Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt are coming to San Francisco, I hope they have a little influence as rooms there are awfully hard to get.

Of course we're a little blue here in Los Angeles as we would have liked to have it too, but maybe it's lucky, as the United Nations are going to have enough real estate problems without some local lot salesmen trying to sell them views of Catalina Island on a clear day.

Then, too, officials are probably worried that the delegates to the conference might spend more time here trying to get Betty Grable's autograph than they would each others.

Overheard on the radio, Anthony Eden: "We did not anticipate that matters would turn out as they have done." As they have done what—have done turned out?

This ludicrous use of "done" is a typical Britishism, and it is to be hoped that American Anglophiles will not seize upon it with the same zeal with which they borrowed the equally silly "aren't they?"

In Eden's sentence, the word "done" not only is ungrammatical, it is also unnecessary. Leave out "done," and the sentence becomes good English: We did not anticipate that matters would turn out as they have.

From F. R. B., Little Rock: "You say, 'Ours is the only country to call its people Americans.' Are you sure that this is not done in Latin America? I recall an Argentinean who bitterly resented our monopoly of the name."

Answer: Perhaps I should have worded my comment thus: "Ours is the only country that may properly call its people Americans."

In the first place, there is no other name to designate a citizen of the United States of America.

Second, no other nation of this hemisphere has "America" in its name.

Third, the proper designation for a citizen of Mexico is "Mexican," of Brazil is

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Paris—The story of France is like the fable of the blind men and the elephant. It has many sides, and the side you see first is the one you are likely to generalize about as typical of all France.

Many Americans come here, buy expensive meals on the black market, stay at the few heated hotels and conclude that the plight of France is greatly exaggerated for the purpose of obtaining more aid from the U. S. A. Others come here, spend a few days and glibly report that the children they see in the upper class districts are well fed.

No one on the basis of a brief stay can possibly judge the complex situation of "this whole bloody business."

Of course, people are not dropping dead in the streets, as in the famine in the Far East, and it's quite possible that France has enough food, with the exception of fats, to feed her own people. What is so serious is the disintegration of the system of production and distribution in a complex industrial civilization.

—THREATENED BY INFLATION—

It is not so much the condition that exists today, although that is serious enough, as the status of the population three months or six months from now unless remedial steps are quickly taken. Even more serious, perhaps, are the long-term consequences of hunger and inflation, twin evils that threaten the French people today. We should have learned by now that these evils lead to political absolutism, whether it is called Fascism or Communism.

Over the question of the plight of France, a tug of war has been going on for many weeks. The French government, backed by the British, have been arguing the critical need of more shipping to bring basic materials into the country in order to restore French economy. The desperation of the French need, as seen from this side of the Atlantic, was one of the principal reasons for the mission of Richard Law, minister of state and Anthony Eden's trouble-shooter, to Washington.

Law's arguments persuaded top officials he talked to on the civilian side. But the military leaders were not persuaded, and their word seems to be final on shipping. They believe that the rehabilitation of France must wait until the war in Europe ends.

What you see here today, therefore, is a race between the Allied armies invading Germany and the threatened collapse, both politically and economically, of liberated France. The question is whether victory will come soon enough to enable France to import the goods she can obtain in America either by purchase or new lend-lease agreement.

—FOOD SUPPLY DEFICIENT—

French rations today are officially about what they were under the German occupation. The catch is that today the housewife finds it difficult or impossible in the open market to buy the family ration. One estimate puts the daily average obtainable on the open market at less than 1400 calories per day during January. The average this month may be even lower.

A man in active work needs at least twice that amount to sustain life. Those who have money resort to the black market, which is growing by leaps and bounds. But black market prices are beyond the reach of the ordinary person.

Moreover, prices on the black bourse constantly risk, and along with this underground inflation goes a threat to the French currency. The franc is now pegged at an artificial rate in relation to the pound and dollar. That seems to encourage speculation in currency, which in turn contributed to the inflationary spiral.

The real problem, however, remains one of transportation. Locomotives, trucks and barges for the canals are the real need, along with a minimum amount of raw materials to get French industry started again, particularly on the manufacture of goods essential to the war.

I motored from Le Havre to Paris through towns ruined by the war. Lines of military trucks moved steadily along the roads to the various fronts with supplies. French civilians were using broken-down vehicles or carts drawn by oxen. The impression you got was of a people struggling for a bare existence on the fringes of war.

The viewpoint of the American military is of course perfectly understandable. They must supply the greatest war in history; and their fear is that if they diminish that supply, then the conflict will be needlessly prolonged.

The French have great fortitude. If early spring brings relief, they should win the race with hunger and inflation. But it is a big "if."

"Brazilian" of Honduras is "Honduran," etc. They are "Americans" only in the generic sense that the French, say, are "Europeans."

There is no such nationality as "European." The word means "a member of any race inhabiting the continent of Europe." But the word "American" is accepted everywhere in the world as designating a citizen of the United States—it is a word of nationality in the strictest sense.

Other nations of this hemisphere may use the term "American," but only when it is qualified, as: Central American, South American, North American (in the case of Canada and Mexico). But, let me repeat, it thus becomes a word of location, and not of nationality, since there are no such nations as "North Central," or "South America."

Wisconsin also has at Hurley (or perhaps it has been closed again temporarily) one of the most shamelessly open red light districts in the nation. Prostitution, gambling, and vice of all kinds are rampant. The state highway commission is also one of the most disjointed systems of highway traffic construction and maintenance, and traffic control, in the nation. Compared with Michigan's state highways and Michigan's state police, the Badger state is still in the dark ages.

These are just a few of the things H. Katherine Power forgot to include in her paean of praise for Wisconsin. Every state has its advantages, natural or otherwise. Michigan can "point with pride" to many advantages, and it can flush for some of its mistakes—but Wisconsin's record is far from spotless too.

—PRO AND CON—This week in Lansing representatives of Michigan cities will present arguments designed to bring favorable legislative action on proposed tax collection and distribution changes in Michigan. These proposed changes will most of all benefit the cities—and would most of all reduce revenues now received by Michigan counties.

The changes in the tax laws are proposed and recommended by the state tax study advisory committee appointed by Gov. Kelly. The report of the committee will be made to Gov. Kelly and it is expected that he will recommend to the legislature that all, or at least most, of the proposals be enacted into law in 1945.

The proposed change which is brought about the most active controversy is that for the redistribution of weight and gas tax revenue. It calls for lumping all gas and weight taxes in one fund and distributing 40 per cent of these funds to the state highway department, 35 per cent to the county road commission, and 25 per cent directly to the villages and cities. Greatest loser under this plan would be the cities share would be more than doubled.

Other changes would bring additional revenues to the cities. In Escanaba it has been estimated that should the proposals be adopted and become effective as law the city would receive about $40,000 a year additional revenue.

"Did Someone Say MacARTHUR?"

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

DEAR BUGLER: In a recent article in the Press in regard to the Ford River wreck, the name of William Dillon was mentioned as one of the victims.

William (Billy) Dillon was a brakeman on the Elch train that night and was on the ground alongside his train when he heard the fast freight coming down through Narenta. Although realizing that he was taking a desperate chance, he rushed back aboard his train, shouting a warning to the passengers to get off as fast as they could.

Some of them did get off—but Billy lost his own life. He was unable to leave the train before the crash came. Billy sure was a hero that night. He knew the danger but he took the chance.

Hats off to the Billy Dillons, the railroad men who make railway travel the safest transportation in this country today.

Billy Dillon and his wife, Mayme Tormey, used to live on Thomas street, now First Avenue North, on the present site of the city gas plant.

Yours truly,
M. J. Harrington,
215 North 15th street.

Dear Mr. Harrington: Thanks for your letter with an additional side light on one of the worst tragedies in local railroad history. Also for bringing to the attention of the public the heroism of Billy Dillon. For the benefit of readers who may have missed earlier comments on the wreck, it occurred 45 years ago at Ford River, Wis.

HE'S MAD—An Escanaba man read a "From the People" communication in the February 5 Milwaukee Journal and promptly hit the ceiling. The communication was written to the Journal by one H. Katherine Power of Allegan, Michigan, and was titled "Why I Prefer Wisconsin."

You will understand why this man "hit the ceiling" when we quote excerpts from the communication:

"Wisconsin is a land of milk, honey, butter and beer. There is no sales tax to pick the poor man's pocket. The legislators don't get shot for talking too much. The state highways aren't full of holes, washboards and dust. Nature smiles and farms look as if people weren't starving to death on them." Write H. Katherine Power. There is more to it, but the above is sufficient to make any Michigan bender blow a fuse.

What H. Katherine Power forgot to add was this:

Wisconsin hasn't had enough butter to go around for several years, and Wisconsin's are barred from purchasing substitute oleo by the Wisconsin "buttered" laws. And the Wisconsin legislators have never been shot, it's true, but it's also true that no investigation is under way there to bring culprits to justice.

Wisconsin also has millions of "one-armed bandits" all over the state, which legally aren't supposed to exist. The Milwaukee Journal has itself lashed out time after time against the slot machine racket.

Wisconsin also has at Hurley (or perhaps it has been closed again temporarily) one of the most shamelessly open red light districts in the nation. Prostitution, gambling, and vice of all kinds are rampant. The state highway commission is also one of the most disjointed systems of highway traffic construction and maintenance, and traffic control, in the nation. GARDEN SCHOOL LAUDED BY OPA

Certificate Of Award Is Presented For War Activity

Eight high school students of the Garden public school were recently honored for activity in war work when C. Emery Snyder, chairman of the Delta County War Price and Rationing Board presented the school with a framed certificate of award.

The presentation took place before the entire school with Principal Ray Ranguette and Superintendent Frank Tebo present. The award was accepted on behalf of the school by Jean Lester, leader of the group. Lawrence L. Farrell, district director of OPA, complimented the school on its activity, and explained the necessity for OPA regulations during wartime.

The population of Garden is approximately 500 but as Price Panel assistants, the student group covered stores in an area of 33 miles adjacent to the town.

SGT. T. DUMAS IS REPATRIATED

Former War Prisoner To Arrive In New York
Next Week

Staff Sgt. Thomas H. Dumas of Escanaba Rt. 1, former prisoner of war in Germany, is among 463 army officers and enlisted men listed by the war department as returning home next week on the exchange ship Gripsholm, it was announced by the Associated Press last night.

A tall gunner on Flying Fortress, Sgt. Dumas became a prisoner of war in Germany many Feb. 24, 1944, while on his tenth combat mission over enemy territory. He has been in service since November, 1942, and went overseas in October, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dumas of Escanaba Rt. 1, his parents, were notified last month that their son was to be repatriated. They were advised by the war department not to make an effort to see their son at New York, where the Gripsholm will land. Sgt. Dumas is 22 years old.

All of the soldiers are sick or wounded, and were exchanged in Switzerland for German prisoners of war, the Associated Press reported. Also aboard the Gripsholm are 665 United States civilians and 78 Canadian military personnel.

The war department said that leave or furlough will be provided for those physically capable of taking advantage of the opportunity. There will be continued hospital treatment for those requiring it, and Sgt. Dumas will be among those, his parents were informed last month. He will be transferred to a hospital nearer his home.

Sgt. Dumas is the second Delta county serviceman to be repatriated from Germany. The first was Staff Sgt. Frank Lusick of Gladstone, who was returned to the United States aboard the Gripsholm in a repatriation last year.

Former Marquette Newspaper Editor Arrested In East

Marquette, Mich. — Charles A. Sloan, 53, employed by the Mining Journal as night editor from mid-December, 1943, to June, 1944, was arrested Monday in Staunton, Va., and is now in Milwaukee awaiting arraignment on a charge of impersonating a federal officer and passing worthless checks drawn on a New York bank.

The FBI had been on Sloan's trail since he left Milwaukee last September and when he was arrested he was working as night editor of a newspaper in Staunton. He was given a preliminary hearing in Staunton and waived removal hearing. His case will go to the grand jury in Milwaukee Feb. 19, federal authorities said last night.

FBI records indicate Sloan, who has worked on newspapers in many parts of the country, has a police record and has used six aliases, one of them being "Bertram Ivan Williams."

Check of his record revealed he was employed on the editorial staff of the Chicago Tribune from 1919 to 1922. He also has worked on newspapers in New York City and has written articles for magazines. He also claims to have been a world traveler and war correspondent, and, more recently, a flier in the Army Air Force Ferry Command.

Came From Pittsburgh
When Sloan made application for a position on the Mining Journal staff in December, 1943, he was in Pittsburgh. He came here shortly before Christmas and said he was glad to get back into the newspaper business after a prolonged absence during which, he said, he had been flying planes for the ferry command and had made many flights overseas. On his last flight, he said, his ship crashed and he was severely injured, so he decided to quit the air.

It developed that Sloan was an habitual drinker and after working here a few weeks he went on a "bender" which made hospitalization necessary. Upon his recovery, he returned to work and remained on the job until mid-June, when he voluntarily left the employment of the Mining Journal. Then followed another bout with the bottle and another sojourn in the hospital.

He remained in Marquette until September, when he went to Munising. After spending a few days there, he went to Escanaba, where he is wanted for passing worthless checks, and then to Milwaukee.

In Milwaukee a warrant was issued Sept. 30 by Floyd Jenkins,

He also writes that his present surroundings are very pleasant again, with the luxury of a bed with white sheets, warmth and good food.

Sgt. Isadore Guenette has arrived from Dayton, Ohio, and is spending a 15-day furlough at his home in Schaffer.

Stephani received a letter from her husband, telling her that his hands and feet had been badly frozen and that he was first hospitalized in a suburb of Paris and later taken by plane to a hospital in England where he is at the present time. In the letter he said that the process of "thawing out" will require some time but that amputation would not be necessary, as first believed, as he was caught in the "nick of time." He also writes that his present surroundings are very pleasant again, with the luxury of a bed with white sheets, warmth and good food.

Pvt. Stephani entered the service on May 3, 1944 and received his training at Fort McClellan, Ala. He was stationed at Fort George G. Meade before going overseas in November.

His wife and daughter are residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Soderman, Gladstone, Route One, at the present time.

Twenty million has been set as the number of automobiles which must be kept in running shape for essential use. Twenty-five per cent of the 25,000,000 automobiles now in use are estimated to be 11 years old or older, and unless care is taken with these cars it is expected that in a few months we will go below the rock-bottom 20,000,000 limit.

Chaplain's Missive Allays Parents' Fear

Fears of Mr. and Mrs. Phil VanLandschoot, city, that some mishap had befallen their son, Frank, who is a seaman 2/C in the navy, have been allayed through a letter received from a chaplain aboard the ship on which Frank is assigned. The VanLandschoots had not heard from Frank in more than one and one-half months.

Following is the letter written by the chaplain, David N. McCarthy:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. VanLandschoot:

"I know that you hear from your son Frank frequently but it is well at times to hear from other sources that he is in good health and doing a swell piece of work aboard this ship. It is only natural that you both will worry about him while he is far away from home and engaged in this most serious business of fighting a war. I just want to assure you that he is in really swell shape and is in the very best of health.

"Frank is very faithful to his religious obligations and gets to mass on Sundays and Holy Days of Obligation unless he is prevented from doing so either because of operational duties or the standing of watches. I see him frequently at the altar also receiving our Lord in Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

"You may be sure my friends that I am doing and will continue to do everything in my power to care for the spiritual needs of your son.

"May I beg an extra prayer from you for success in my priestly work with the men entrusted to my care, especially for those Catholic men who are negligent in their obligations toward God?"

"Wishing God's choicest blessings upon you and yours during this present year of 1945, I remain,

"Sincerely yours in Christ."

Pfc Charles Rivers In Noted Battle at Luxembourg City

Pfc. Charles Rivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivers, Wisconsin avenue, took part in a battle in Luxembourg that was featured in the Stars and Stripes with the headline:

"Yanks' Ten-Day Stand In Luxembourg Sounds Like Page From Novel"

The story written by Richard Lewis, staff writer, follows:

"For ten days, Ninth Armored Division's Combat Command A held the elbow of the German bulge in Luxembourg and barred the way to Luxembourg city until the Fifth Infantry came up to relieve them.

"Some of the events of those ten wild days, when sleep was compounded of Benzadrine sulphate tablets, were described in Paris by three of the division's officers, Lt. Col. George Ruhlens, Maj. Ben J. Cochran and Maj. Henry T. Mortimer.

"Nobody told the doughs of the 60th Armored Infantry battalion to pull out, so they stayed and fought until word finally got through to them. A few days later, they showed up in German helmets and with blankets draped over their shoulders, their rifles slung with bayonets fixed.

"They walked through German lines that way. In the dark it was hard to tell the identity of a group of doughs who marched in formation through the town of Beaufort where a regiment of Jerries was celebrating the capture of the town.

"A German sentry challenged the shadowy forms. A dough said 'Heil Hitler' and they kept right on going until they reached the U. S. lines. After that they fought some more.

"There was Ruhlens' Third armored field artillery battalion which knocked off thousands of Germans with the loss of only three men. They held a 10,000 yard front for eight days a shell left their 105 mm. howitzers on the average of every 40 seconds.

"They were particularly hot Dec. 21 and 22 when they popped out 7,043 rounds. There was an observer who stood atop a tank correcting fire on a battery of 50's which was shooting at him. * * *

ARREST WOMAN FOR LARCENY

Negaunee Woman Said To Have Taken $90 From Local Man

Mrs. John Peterson, alias Betty Molenaski, alias Kitty Thompson, was arrested at the request of Gladstone city police at Marquette and was relayed by state police to Delta county to answer to a grand larceny charge.

Betty is alleged to have 'rolled' Oscar Bastian of Gladstone of $90. The woman was arrested as she was released from the Marquette county jail where she served a term on a larceny conviction. Police records disclose the woman is also a parole violator.

The offense with which she is charged here is believed to have occurred either during a tour of local taverns which the couple are reputed to have made, or in a private home after the tour. Bastian is said to have had $800 on his person at the time.

Betty is being held in the county jail awaiting arraignment in justice court.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 million of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney filters to get rid of waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ernie's Dad And Aunt Get Comps For Movie

(Editor's Note: Ernie Pyle is with the Navy in the Pacific, pending receipt of his dispatches from that war theater we are publishing a few articles he wrote before his take-off from San Francisco, of which the following is one.)

BY ERNIE PYLE

San Francisco and now about the movie which is being partly based on these columns from the war fronts over the last two years. Well, the movie is finished at last. I mean the shooting is finished. But there are a lot of things we laymen don't know about the movies, and one of them is that a film isn't ready to show for about three months after they've finished shooting. So I don't expect you'll be seeing it till April or May.

They are still calling it "The Story of G. I. Joe." I never did like the title, but nobody could think up a better one, and I was too lazy to try. There is still a possibility they'll change it, and I hope they do.

It is a movie about the infantry. There isn't much of a story to it, and there's no conventional love interest running through it.

The War Department co-operated, and furnished two companies of soldiers who were moved to Hollywood, plus lots of equipment such as trucks, tanks, guns and what not.

The soldiers all grew beards, and although they got awfully itchy, the boys said the girls in Hollywood sure do go for a soft, fuzzy beard. The only tragedy was when one soldier's beard caught fire one day, and he got pretty badly burned. I don't know whether he got a Purple Heart for that or not.

The six main soldier characters in the picture were played by professional actors. But the run-of-the-mill soldiers were played by real soldiers. As was expected, a couple of the real soldiers turned out to be "finds" as actors. By the time you see the picture, practically all the soldiers in it will be fighting overseas.

I spent a week in Hollywood nosing into the picture in October another week in December, and Hollywood people were dropping off every plane, train and stage coach that passed through Albuquerque all the time I was home. We had Hollywood writers, directors, actors, producers, photographers and research experts by the dozen at our house. The only thing Hollywood didn't send over to Albuquerque in search of enlightenment and advice was beautiful girls, and I guess they didn't need advice.

I still don't know whether it will be a good picture or not. But I think it will. Certainly there are some magnificent scenes in it, and certainly it pulls no punches in showing the mud and misery and fear of an infantryman's life. If it isn't a good picture, it will not be for lack of good intentions. They have worked a year and a half on it, spent over a million dollars. They've slaved to avoid "Hollywooding" it. They've sought and listened to advice from men who know what war is.

They've had at least one veteran war correspondent there all the time. The army has kept never less than three overseas veterans of combat out there constantly. As left Hollywood, one of these veterans said "I think it's going to be a good picture. At least I think it will be the most authentic war picture ever made."

My own part in it is very minor as it should be, for this is a picture about the infantry, not about me. My part is played by Capt. Burgess Meredith.

The makeup men shaved his head and wrinkled his face and made him up so well that he's even uglier than I am, poor fellow.

The picture was directed by "Wild Bill" Wellman, one of Hollywood's top men. Wellman is a picturesque director, wild with enthusiasm, and everything he sees is either the greatest thing he ever saw in his life, or the worst thing. Thank goodness, he thinks this picture comes in the former category.

The picture was produced by Lester Cowan, an independent, through United Artists. If it's a lousy picture, poor Lester will have to face the wrath of about two million irate soldiers. If it isn't a lousy picture, then he can float on air for years.

An almost anonymous person whose hand bore strongly on the picture is an old Indiana school friend of mine named Paige Cavanaugh. Being one of my closest friends, he quit whatever he was doing last spring and went to work for Lester Cowan, largely to insure, as Lester puts it, that "Cowan didn't louse Pyle up."

But as time went on Cavanaugh's innate good sense began to make an impression around Hollywood, and in the end they have leaned heavily on his judgment. Cavanaugh, being a farmer at heart, still sneers at Hollywood, but he's got a gleam in his eye that looks permanent to me.

When the picture is finally ready for release, they hope to fly a print across the Pacific, and let me have a little world premier of my own before a few hundred fighting infantrymen somewhere in the Far East.

But there won't be any single premiere in America. It will open simultaneously in 100 cities. My little old hometown of Dana, Ind., and my new hometown of Albuquerque, will of course be among them.

The theater manager in Dana has volunteered to let my father and Aunt Mary in free on opening night. They think that's sure mighty nice, and they'll probably take him up on it.

COUNTY AGENT ISSUES WARNING

Urges Measures To Protect Potato
Crop

Steps should be taken now to reduce the threat to the 1945 potato crop by bacterial ring rot, according to County Agricultural Agent, J. L. Heilman.

Bacterial ring rot caused an estimated loss of more than a million dollars to the 1944 potato crop. The following program for combating the disease of ring rot is suggested by H. C. Moore and J. H. Muncie, Michigan State college crops and plant pathology specialists:

1. Sell all infected stock for table use. A grower who is in doubt about his seed stock for 1945 should place about 300 pounds of seed in a warm room (temperature about 75 deg. F.) and determine how much breakdown occurs. If he discovers that his stock is infected with ring rot, he should place his seed on the table stock market and replace with clean seed.

2. Thoroughly disinfect all tools and equipment used in growing, storage and handling of potatoes.

3. Use only certified seed or seed that is known to be free from infection. Seed orders should be placed at once, for the 1945 supply is limited.

4. Growers using their own seed are urged to plant a seed plot which can be kept separate from the rest of their planting so that every precaution can be taken to prevent contamination. Seed for this plot should always be stored separately in bins that have been disinfected with copper sulphate in the proportion of 1 pound of the chemical to 10 gallons of water.

LOCAL FOREST RANGER LEAVING

C. L. Chase Is Assigned
New Duties At St. Paul

Clarence S. Chase in charge of the local forest rangers' station is being transferred to divisional offices in St. Paul, Minn., and will leave about March first to assume his new tasks. He will be assigned to duties as forest economist at the Lake Street forest experiment station in that city. No successor to him here has as yet been announced.

Mr. Chase came to Manistique from Milwaukee in the spring of 1923, succeeding Ranger Edward C. DeGraff. He is a technically trained forestry expert, having graduated from the School of Forestry at the University of Minnesota and later obtained a degree of Master of Science in the work at the Iowa State College at Ames. He has served in the U. S. Forestry Service for over 12 years.

In the seven years he has been stationed at Manistique, Ranger Chase has participated in a considerable amount of effort in the development of the Manistique District Hiawatha National Forest, which was established 10 years ago. More than 12,000 acres of successful plantation are now a growing monument to the Civilian Conservation Corps and the Forest Service.

Both the number and size of forest and grass fires in the 175,000 acres of the Manistique district have been cut in more than half in the past ten years. A timber sales business of two and one-half million feet a year have been built up in the last six years with all logging being supervised closely in order to provide for a continuous high production of forest crops.

Plans for moving are indefinite, but the family plans to leave Manistique about February 28.

Even though elated over the promotion, Mr. Chase states that both he and his wife are leaving with reluctance. They have come to look upon Manistique as their home town. The Chases have had two children born here and one child, Lorry, has been laid to rest here.

Mrs. Chase has been active in community and church affairs and at the present time, is president of the Lakeside PTA. Mr. Chase has been active in the Manistique Rotary club and is an elder of the Presbyterian church.

SUNKEN FISH BOAT IS RAISED

Was In Bottom Of Local Harbor Since Late
December

The Anna Belle, a fishing craft belonging to the Jensen Fish company has been rescued from a watery grave after having been resting on the bottom of the harbor since shortly before Christmas.

This craft, which was the largest one of the Jensen company fleet, was sunk when an attempt was made to tow it across the harbor from the west to the east side. The boat had been under repairs and some heavy sheets of steel, designed to protect it against ice had been removed. When the boat was being towed it came in contact with heavy ice with disastrous results.

Later the craft had been raised to the surface and another attempt was made to tow it, but the craft sprung a leak and sank to the bottom. It is now safely moored to the company dock and workmen are putting it into ship shape.

GIVEN POWER TO MAKE ARRESTS

Germfask Camp Workers Have Same Status As Game Wardens

Advised authority to act in the curbing of petty vandalism at the Germfask Conscientious Objectors' camp has been vested recently in employees in charge, Clarence S. Johnson, manager of the Seney Migratory Wildlife refuge, reports. Each employee is given the status of a game conservation officer and as such is authorized to act in the protection of government property.

This, Mr. Johnson says, should tend to curb such acts as the breaking into the kitchen and commissary departments of the camp and the commandeering of camp trucks without authorization.

Life at the camp, since the recent visit of Lt. Col. Simon P. Dinkle of the National Headquarters of Selective Service, in Washington, D. C., and of members of the FBI has been very quiet. No disturbances of any kind have been reported.

No word from Lt. Col. Dinkle or any indication of prospective changes in the setup at the camp have as yet been received.

Gas turbine-powered warplanes are already in the air, thanks to the discovery of certain alloys that, added to steel, provide a material able to withstand the very high temperatures at which such engines must operate for efficiency.

'Calendar On Ice' Scores Smash Triumph In Opening Performance

SKATING REVUE COLORFUL SHOW

Presentation Will Be Repeated Tonight
And Saturday

"The Calendar on Ice", the Escanaba Figure Skating club's fifth annual ice revue, scored a smashing triumph in its opening performance last night at the fairgrounds indoor rink before a capacity crowd. The show will be presented again this evening and Saturday evening at the fairgrounds.

From the opening number to the star spangled finale, the show was a breathless demonstration of talent, beauty and precision skating. The revue featured a wide and varied group of "home grown" talented figure skaters, indelibly portraying the vast progress made in the five years that the revue has been presented in Escanaba under the auspices of the figure skating club.

Although the cast was composed entirely of local amateur skaters, the revue was in every other sense a professional presentation. The costumes, particularly, were gorgeous and in true professional taste. All of the costumes were designed and constructed locally.

The theme of the revue, "Calendar on Ice", featured solo and chorus numbers portraying individually each of the twelve months of the year.

Sullivan Scores Hit
The scenic backgrounds, changing with each number, showed great artistic skill and provided an excellent complement for the beautiful costumes and the skillful performances of the skaters.

Howard Sullivan, Escanaba youngster who learned his skating technique as a member of the local figure skating club and who now is with the famed Ice Capades, drew uproarious applause with a comedy solo act in which he demonstrated artistic skill on the blades. Sullivan drew several encores.

All of the numbers were presented with excellent precision, revealing painstaking preparation and many hours of diligent rehearsal.

Soloists who scored great triumphs included Mary Goudreau in the Snowball Frolic, January number; Joanne Groos, the Sweetheart of Blades in "Sweethearts on Parade", depicting the month of February; Joanne Beck, Little Miss Irish, in the "Irish Washerwomen"; Helen Schwalbach, the ballerina in "Ladies of the Ballet"; Patry Wicklund, as Sparkling Youth, in the May number, "In An Old Dutch Garden"; Mary Groos in Speed and Skill in the military, "Drums on Parade"; Irma Bartley in the Harvest Moon presentation of the month of October; and, of course, Marjorie Davies, who not only directed the show to its smashing triumph but also was one of its most talented, featured artists.

The revue also featured a number of outstanding partner performances, opening with Helen Gunkel and Bob Schwalbach in "Winter Romance". Other partner performances were the Dardanella Swing by Joanne Beck and Howard Dufour and Hansel and Gretel as portrayed by Jeanne Groos and

Search For New Big 10 Commissioner Still On

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—The search for a new Big Ten athletic commissioner still is on, but conference athletic directors moved within bargaining range today by proposing increased authority and salary for the position.

In their third "candidate-hunting" meeting, the athletic directors took action which their chairman, Guy Mackey of Purdue, said probably would result in selection of a successor to the late Maj. John L. Griffith at another meeting on March 8.

The commissioner's budget was hiked from $10,000 to $15,000 annually, plus pro-rated assessment on conference football receipts, and he was vested with authority to make interpretations of, and rulings on, conference regulations and agreements governing the conduct of athletics.

Mackey stressed that the new code must be approved by the conference faculty committee as must the athletic directors' choice for the job.

Despite the stipulation of new authority which also empowers the commissioner to black-list any allegedly subsidized athlete, Bob Schwalbach, the Dutch Girl and the Dutch boy, Maxine Dufour and Billy Cretons, and a comedy act, Grand Central station, through Billy Fallmer, featured precision skating and gorgeous costumes and setting, it was not without its moments of light comedy. "Wedding Bells," the surprise number of the show, was a hilarious comedy on ice that brought down the house.

All in all, "Calendar on Ice" represents the finest and most colorful ice revue ever presented in Escanaba.

the new code still describes the office as "a clearing house" for conference violations and as "an agency for investigation of such cases" as it was under Griffith.

Most mentioned candidates for the job are two members of the directors' group, H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan and Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of Northwestern. Both attended the meeting.

It was believed the relaxed code and salary which presumably will exceed $15,000 annually would include Crisler or Wilson to accept.

Crisler long has been reported the No. 1 choice of his colleagues, but remained non-committal through the previous stalemate on the proposed rule change.

Former Basketball Star At E. Lansing Killed In Germany

East Lansing, Feb. 15 (AP)—Capt. Max O. Hindman, 27, of Gary, Ind., a member of the Michigan State basketball team from 1939-41, was killed in action Nov. 11 while leading his men into position in Germany, Coach Ben Van Alstyne has been informed by relatives.

Hindman was co-captain and high scorer of State's 1941 team and was a member of the famous "Garry gang" that helped State defeat Long Island university in Madison Square Garden in 1941.

Surviving are his widow and one child.

He was the 34th former State athlete to lose his life in World War II.

A United States Marine officer, Lieut.-Col. Francis T. Evans, was the first aviator to loop the loop in a seaplane, a feat he accomplished in 1917.

GWINN TACKLES BRAVES TONIGHT

Harris To Play Reserves
In Prelim For Final
Home Varsity Tilt

Gladstone, Mich.—Gwinn high school comes here tonight to tackle the Gladstone Braves in their annual cage battle. It will be the final home game of the season for the Braves.

Harris high school eagles will meet the Gladstone Reserves in a prelim which is scheduled to begin at 7:15 o'clock.

Gwinn is reputed to have one of their best teams in recent years. It is a veteran outfit which has won their last 11 or 12 games in a string.

There is a probability that some of the regulars will be warming the bench tonight for Coach Eldon Keil was definitely disappointed in their showing against Escanaba Tuesday night.

For the past several weeks the Braves have been going downhill and if the seniors don't display a different brand of basketball the games might just as well be lost with a group of sophomores and juniors playing and getting some experience for a future year.

Rudness of Negaunee will handle the game.

Fifth Place Best Michigan Can Do In Big Ten Race

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 15 (AP)—The University of Michigan basketball team, closing its 1945 campaign at Northwestern Friday in the earliest roundup in modern Wolverine history, can hope for nothing better than a fifth place finish in the 1945 Big Ten race.

Currently resting in sixth with four wins and seven defeats, the Wolverines can move ahead of Wisconsin by turning the tables on a Northwestern outfit that whipped Michigan 49 to 34 here last week for one of its three wins in nine games. Wisconsin, with three wins in eight games, meets Purdue, Iowa (twice) and Minnesota before closing the season.

Coach Ben Oosterbaan announced that he will make no changes in his starting Michigan lineup despite the Wolverines' three straight losses. Bob Geahan, the Big Ten's second leading scorer, will pair with John Mullaney at forward while Don Lund will go at center and Walt Keil and Don Lindquist at guard.

Max Morris, Northwestern's high scoring center who leads the conference point chase with 142 in nine games, was slated to hold down the center spot for Northwestern.

Michigan can record its 12th win of the 19-game season by squaring its two-game set with the Wildcats.

While the Wolverine eagles are winding up their 1945 business, Michigan's wrestling team defends its Big Ten mat crown in the conference meet at Northwestern this week-end, trying for the school's 100th Big Ten championship in 10 sports.

The Michigan track squad will be split up Saturday for a "double dual" meet here, the Wolverine varsity engaging Great Lakes and Michigan reserves meeting Western Michigan simultaneously.

Michigan's swimming and hockey teams are idle this week.

Two teams will fight each other to the death when roused.

It would be fun to try out the proposed rules in one of the remaining pre-tournament games in the upper peninsula to give fans, players and coaches a chance to see how the Hobson theories actually work. It could be tried, for instance, in the Escanaba-Kingsford game here March 2, if that game is unimportant in determining a seed position for the Iron Mountain tournament.

The opposing coaches might not go for that idea, however, inasmuch as that game is only the week before the district tournament. A better spot to have conducted the experiment would have been the Escanaba-Gladstone game last Tuesday, since this game had no bearing on a seeded tournament position and it was far enough from the tournament so as not to have interfered with either team's preparations for tournament competition.

This is not the time for radical revision of the rules of basketball or any other game, for that matter.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The proposal of Howard Hobson, Oregon basketball coach, that a new scoring system in basketball be given a thorough test is sensible, because you can never tell how good or how bad anything really is until you actually try it. Hobson has suggested a 21 foot basket within zone beyond which goals would count 3 points, two points within the 21 foot arc, widening of the foul lane to 12 feet, and an option of attempting free throws from a 21 foot line for two points, or the conventional 15 foot-line for one point. The system was tried out recently in a game between Columbia and Fordham.

In the Columbia-Fordham experiment, Columbia won 73 to 58. Under regulation rules, Columbia would have won, 59 to 44, so the spread between the teams was the same with either system. Opinions were divided, with the coaches, on the whole, rejecting the new innovations but with the fans and a majority of the players voting approval. Nat Helman, coach of City College of New York, went along with the coaches in opposition to the plan, but he added "I was glad to see the defense loosened up." Officials, of course, don't like the new rules, because they add the responsibility of determining actual positions from which scoring shots were made.

ALLEY TOURNEY BAN PROTESTED

Wisconsin Association
Goes Ahead With Meet
Starting Saturday

BY BUS HAM
Washington, Feb. 15 (AP)—Bowling got into the controversial wartime sports picture today with a big family argument over whether to cancel or continue tournaments.

The situation involved the Office of Defense Transportation civilian travel policy, a question of cancellation authority and competition for many of the game's 16,000,000 participants.

The National Bowling council says that hundreds of meets which require "travel and hotel" accommodations will be cancelled, saving upwards of 3,500,000 passenger miles.

But some tournament sponsors say they intend to go right ahead with tournament plans unless a direct request for cancellation comes from the government.

Among these was Clarence Jones, secretary of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association, whose tournament is scheduled to begin in Milwaukee Saturday.

Jones said War Mobilization Director Jimmy Byrne assured him more than three weeks ago that there was no objection to a state bowling tournament.

Elmer Baumgarten, secretary of the American Bowling Congress, and a member of the NBC, said earlier:

"This isn't a matter of being compelled to cancel. Can't these people see the necessity of cancelling without a government crackdown?"

The crux of the situation appeared to be whether the council or any other bowling group has authority to cancel tournaments.

The council, in executive session here, first adopted a resolution merely recommending cancellation of state and sectional meets, but later stated that such tournaments will be cancelled.

Hermansville Will Meet Felch Tonight

The Hermansville Redskins take another giant killing role when they meet the strong Felch quint on the Powers court tonight.

Felch will have a distinct advantage in height and experience over the Redskins with three freshmen in the lineup.

Coach Walter Gustafson's team is a strong contender in Class C this season, having won eight games and lost three. They have demonstrated a strong scoring punch. In a previous game Felch defeated the Redskins 44-45 in the highest scoring game in the district.

Coach Cyril Mantei's team is determined, however, to stage a comeback after losing to the Redskins Alpha five last week. The Redskins have plenty of speed and fight and will show the fans a good game of basketball. They have won five games and lost five, so far this season. Strolle of Monomie will officiate.

Cooks Will Play At Nahma Tonight

Nahma — Nahma evening plays Cooks here Friday evening. Nahma suffered one defeat from Cooks.

It is the last home game scheduled. The line up is: Hascott, center; Tom Tobin, guard; Mercier, guard; Camps and Ritter, forwards.

The seventh and eighth grade will play Garden Junior boys and Ray Ranguette will referee.

Glenn Johnston Slightly Wounded In Action Jan. 9

Leonard (Glenn) Johnston, boat-swain's mate second class, USNR, was slightly wounded in action on Jan. 9, according to a letter received from the navy department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Johnston, 319 North 18th street. He suffered a simple fracture of the right elbow and is being retained on board his ship.

Glenn entered the service Dec. 10, 1942, and went on sea duty July 30, 1943.

This is the third casualty in the Johnston family.

Pvt. Warren Roy Johnston, paratrooper, was killed in Holland on Sept. 12, 1944. His brother, First Lt. Clayton Johnston, was wounded last summer. He received the Purple Heart in July, 1944, and recently was awarded the bronze star medal for heroism. Clayton enlisted in the army Nov. 21, 1941.

Youth For Christ Rally Here On Saturday Night

A Youth for Christ rally, the first of its nature in Escanaba, will be held Saturday evening at the William Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school. The rally is sponsored by the Council of the Upper Michigan Youth for Christ, an organization for the purpose of promoting the Youth for Christ movement in the upper peninsula.

The rally, scheduled to be held from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, is expected to be largely attended. Appearing on the program are nationally known Youth for Christ leaders, speaking and singing. Heading this list is Miss Rose Arzooonian, the noted Gospel singer of Chicago. Miss Arzooonian was a recent prize winner among 1400 contestants in a contest sponsored by the "Hour of Charm" program, heard each Sunday evening on the nation-wide network. Rose is with Chicago-land Youth for Christ and says she enjoys doing Christian work.

Appearing also on the program is Bob Nelson, a trumpet player of New York. Bill Peterson of Muskegon, Mich., who sings bass solos, and Maurice Lundh, a baritone of St. Paul, Minn. Some local talent will also be heard, such as "Your People's Quartette" and a large Youth Chorus under the direction of Mrs. L. R. Haring of Bark River. Brief messages will be brought by the Rev. Paul E. Johnson of Iron Mountain and Harold Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y.

The first Youth for Christ rally in Upper Michigan was held last November at Iron Mountain and was attended by more than eight hundred young people from various parts of the upper peninsula. Some forty different churches were represented at this rally and thirteen denominations. Youth for Christ rallies were held in more than 200 different cities and sections of the United States last year. That the young people of America appreciate this sort of thing is proven by the mass attendance at these rallies. Jack Wyrntzen of New York, who is accredited with the idea of starting the movement, was astonished last year to find that Madison Square Garden with a seating capacity of 20,000 was far inadequate to hold the crowd that came out to attend these rallies in that city. In Chicago, the huge Stadium was filled to its capacity with 28,000 attending a few months ago when the Chicago-land Youth for Christ rally, under direction of Torrey Johnson, was held.

Local men represented on the Council of the Upper Michigan Youth for Christ are Rev. Burger Swenson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Escanaba, Rev. D. L. Carlson, director of Religious Education for the American Sunday School Union in Upper Michigan, and Rev. J. Fred Young, pastor of the Bethel Evangelical Free Church in Gladstone.

Combats Delinquency

Although Youth for Christ rallies are primarily attended by young people, adults are also welcome. This movement, with its popular evangelistic appeal to young people, honoring the word of God and the Gospel invitation, has not only been very successful in combating juvenile delinquency but also has been the means of leading thousands of young people to accept Christ as their Saviour, definitely dedicating themselves to their Master's cause.

Local men represented on the Council of the Upper Michigan Youth for Christ are Rev. Burger Swenson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Escanaba, Rev. D. L. Carlson, director of Religious Education for the American Sunday School Union in Upper Michigan, and Rev. J. Fred Young, pastor of the Bethel Evangelical Free Church in Gladstone.
